Philosophy

Children are capable.

The environment and the curriculum are designed with the children's needs at the center. Children learn in relationships with others. Through respectful relationships, children will discover, display and inspire the best in themselves and others. We are a learning community sustained by a close collaboration between children, parents, guardians and teachers--all learners together.

Children are active, curious participants in the community.

Young children are process oriented. We provide activities for children that are open-ended and encourage creative experimentation. Children construct their own questions and challenges and make their own meaning. Teachers work as co-constructors of knowledge by providing guidance while presenting hands-on, imaginative experiences and provocative materials.

Teachers support the children by carefully listening to them, generating occasions of discovery and encouraging reflection.

Teachers allow children to thrive by providing an environment that allows them to feel physically and emotionally safe. Teachers carefully observe the children and reflect upon their play, interests, needs or responses to curriculum.
